

Family Cultural Night - Survey

Before planning a cultural celebration, you may send home a survey to families to find out what cultures are represented in your community. From their feedback, you can be sure all of the group's cultures are represented accurately. Here is an example of language you might use:

Dear Friends,

Next Monday we are holding a Family Cultural Celebration! We would like to represent the heritage and cultures that make our community unique and special!

Please help us understand how you define your culture.

- What ethnicity, faith, or other cultural descriptors are part of your family?
- Which countries make up your family's heritage?
- What special holidays or occasions do you celebrate as part of your culture?
- What food, music, rituals, holidays, and practices are important to your family?
- To what groups do you belong that include traditions and celebrations?

Let us know if you would like to share music, food, or stories for our celebration. Please introduce us to someone you think would like to help us grow in understanding of our community's diverse representation.
