

Things I can do for others without asking permission

help organize a space walk at someone else's pace recycle items

help a friend learn something collect coins to donate say something when you notice something isn't right rake leaves draw a picture to cheer someone share a pencil

sit with someone new at lunch read a poem to someone invite someone to play listen to a friend when they are sad or angry say "please" often smile at someone new say "thank you" often donate a stuffed animal teach facts from a book give someone a high five plant a tree

ask someone's opinion and listen carefully tie someone's shoes

hold a door for someone ask someone a question to get to know them better push a chair in for someone introduce two people
