Verse I: It starts like this, it's really quite simple the world's getting crowded, getting crammed with people all struggling each day to just get by, if we're gonna get to gather we've got to all try to look beyond ourselves, and help each other meet every one you meet like a sister or a brother and give out the love, give out the peace, you'll find that giving's a sweet release from stress, and pain and struggle and strain and all these troubles that we all have you'll find the cure is to care.

Verse II: You know how glow, like when you're get a cold and you're sneezing and coughing, gets a runny nose and before you know it your whole family's got it but as you know if all your friends got it before you know it your whole school's got it before you know it,.... I think you've got the point imagine that kind of multiplication with something real positive sweeping the nation. We just do it that's the best way to start doesn't cost anything when it comes to in the heart. It would happen, if all begin with you. What are you willing to do?
