

Reflection

Now that you have had a chance to catch your breath and listen to some of the experiences of some of your peers, it's your turn to reflect. Using Standard English Conventions (such as sentence structure, grammar and usage, punctuation, capitalization, and spelling), please share your thoughts and ideas relating to the following prompt.

PROMPT: As you consider all of the work you and your group have done to develop a display/exhibit; an aesthetic piece of art intended to provide a service to your school/community, what are your feelings not only about what you produced as a group but what feelings were produced in you as an individual. Reflect and share what service you hope your display/exhibit will ultimately provide for those who view it; how the beliefs and values of those who view it might be positively impacted.
