Refugees and Resources: Analysis

Name: _____ Date: _____

1. Look at the natural resources that are important for the country that you researched. Why might these natural resources cause contention in the country that you researched?

2. How does climate affect the ebb and flow of the natural resources that you mentioned in question #1?

3. What kind of economic system does your country has, and how does that reflect upon the number of refugees and IDPs from the state? (Hint: Think about the Gross Per Capita amount and the major exports that this country has.)

4. What type of political system(s) and conflicts has the country faced in the past ten years, and how might that affect the number of refugees from this country?

In a well-formed five-paragraph research report, explain how the country that you researched is more likely to have a high number of refugees and IDPs due to the geographical and political issues that the country may have.