

Rubric

Demonstrate the importance of a civil society by sharing your interest in participating in democracy. Create a presentation that encourages or inspires others to participate in democracy.

Think about your role in improving the world and what you would like to communicate to the citizens of this democracy about their role as democratic citizens?

Choose a format for sharing your vision:

Create a Keynote, PowerPoint, or Google Docs presentation.	Create a movie using a FLIP video camera.	Make a poster (on paper or using glogster.com).
Create a Website.	Blog about a topic.	Create a comic strip (on paper or using Comic Life).
Write a letter of advocacy.	Create a podcast.	Write a poem, song, play, or puppet show to perform.

Rubric Outline:

Presentation has a clear audience.

1. The audience is identified and matches the tone and message.
2. The audience is not identified, but the tone and message are clear.
3. The audience and message do not match.

Use correct grammar, spelling, and style.

1. The grammar, spelling, and style are grade-level appropriate.
2. The grammar, spelling, and style are 80% accurate.
3. The grammar, spelling, and style are 50% accurate.

Be creative and create something new and innovative.

1. The presentation is new and different.
2. The ideas are new, but the presentation is familiar.
3. The presentation is unique, but the ideas are familiar.
4. The presentation and ideas are not new.

Use effective communication.

1. The message is communicated clearly and fits the goals of the project.
2. The message and goals are inconsistent.
3. The message is unclear.

Make your presentation attractive.

1. The presentation is neat, consistent, and colorful.
2. The presentation is attractive, but contains some sloppiness.
3. The presentation looks like a rough draft.

Share responsibilities.

1. Each member of the group contributed appropriately.
2. Some members contributed more than others.
3. Some members did not take adequate responsibility.

